

every penny we earn.

Contributed by editor
Monday, 31 December 2007

At the current rate of growth, within 20 years taxes will consume every penny we earn. Long before then, we will all be living in public housing projects and eating government cheese.